Ladies and Gentlemen, Algerian competencies inside the country and abroad

As part of its efforts to promote scientific research and the technological development, and innovation as key pillars for reinforcing both national sovereignty and building a knowledge-based economy to lay the sustainable development foundations in Algeria, the National Council for Scientific Research and Technologies (NCSRT) intends to organize a national meeting entitled:

Scientific Research and Innovation in the Service of the National Economy: "From Vision to Impact" on 20th and 21st December 2025, in Algiers.

This important event will establish a unifying platform for various actors in the national research and innovation system, including the academic and scientific elite, the relevant ministerial sectors, public and private economic institutions, labor unions, employers' organizations, youth institutions and civil society.

The meeting aims to clarify the shared strategic vision and strengthen the scientific research and innovation ecosystem in order to build a national research and innovation ecosystem that is efficient and able of keeping pace with ongoing structural reforms. It also contributes to achieving the goals set out in the government program.

The National Council for Scientific Research and Technologies (NCSRT) extends its sincere thanks and appreciation to you for your tireless efforts to build a strong economy, and strengthens Algeria's leadership in the fields of innovation.

On this occasion, I am delighted to invite you to participate in this important national event by sharing your suggestions and to make this initiative a success, which seeks to unify visions through the involvement of all stakeholders in the scientific research and innovation system.
